

HOT SEAT

The Corsi family—of Q4 Restaurant Group fame—has brought their epicurean magic downtown with Q4 Al Centro, at 788 Richards Street WWW.Q4RESTAURANT.COM in the L'Hermitage Hotel. Fantastic pizza takes centre stage at this new location, as does an amazing selection of Prosecco. This cozy spot is open for lunch and dinner (with the added bonus of complimentary valet parking), and—this is the best part—they even offer take out!

HOT SPOT

Situated between Gastown and Yaletown in the proposed 'Bordertown' district, Calabash Bistro is serving up some of the most tantalizing fare in Vancouver, wowing the dining public with a mouthwatering array of menu items ranging from fresh seafood curry, chicken and their featured daily fish fry to an amazing selection of dishes made with homemade jerk spices and their selection of house sauces.

After dinner, head downstairs to dance and you'll be entertained by their resident DJ—who is housed in one of the oldest elevator shafts in the city—on Old Skool Fridays and Reggae Saturdays. Calabash partners Sam Willcocks and Roger Collins, alongside Chef Gullin David, have created one of the most unique dining spots in the city—for which The Hot Sheet gives Calabash our highest praise. HOT ACCESSORY

A few years back, Claudia Alan Inc. president Carla D'Angelo commissioned artist Corrine Hunt (she co-designed the Vancouver 2010 Olympic medals) to create First Nations-inspired artwork for the AYA Eyewear Line. The stunning results have proven extremely popular and also provide a 'giving back' component: partial proceeds from the sale of every pair of AYA Eyewear glasses go to the OneXOne First Nations Nutritious Breakfast Program.
